Idaho City Selects Great West Engineering for Engineering Services

IDAHO CITY, Idaho – The City of Idaho City is pleased to announce the selection of Great West Engineering as its new engineering services provider. The Idaho City Council approved the selection during a special meeting on November 13, 2026.

The City worked with Clearwater Financial (CWF), its municipal advisor, to conduct a Request for Qualifications (RFQ) process to identify and evaluate qualified engineering firms. CWF assisted with the solicitation and evaluation process, helping the City identify an engineering partner to support its current and future needs.

"We're excited to move forward with Great West Engineering and continue making progress on projects that are important to our community," said Mayor Ryan Heffington. "We look forward to building a strong working relationship and working together to address the City's needs."

"Idaho City has several important infrastructure projects ahead, and having the right engineering partner in place is an important step toward moving those efforts forward," said Cameron Arial of Clearwater Financial. "Our goal throughout the RFQ process was to help the City make an informed decision and establish a strong foundation for the work ahead."

Great West Engineering will assist the City with ongoing infrastructure projects and future planning efforts. Members of the Great West team have previously worked with Idaho City, bringing familiarity with the community and its needs.
